1.0 Project Information

1.1 Project Background

Student exchange programs are opportunities available at many universities in which students get the chance to study abroad. Students that take part in these programs do not only receive an education in another country but often travel within that country to be immersed in the foreign lifestyle, language and culture. Consequently, Monash University has sponsored the creation of a travel web application that will assist university students in planning their domestic travels around a country. Although currently international borders are closed due to the current COVID-19 pandemic, the federal government is taking steps to ease these restrictions, and it is believed this app will contribute to the recovery of the economies. The client for the project is Lauren, but the users of the web application will be university students.

1.2 Project Summary

The project aims to deliver a user-friendly web application equipped with the features specified by the client. In order to ensure that the web application is user-friendly and aesthetically pleasing to look at, some design considerations and decisions must be made. The main objective of this document is to provide the information necessary to create the web application in terms of design. The information contained within this document includes both narrative and visual descriptions of the design. Visual representations of the application are presented in the form of wireframes to provide an overview of the user interface, as well as storyboards to illustrate the changes in the user interface as a result of user interaction.
